Yet in your current org design, they may not be focused on the right things. To do it we need considerable support, and the motivation to carry the task through some very uncomfortable periods. But in practice, this approach has a couple of problems.

In a learning organization, leaders are designers, stewards and teachers. The need to focus on knowledge generation within an increasingly globalized economy does bring us back in some important respects to the people who have to create intellectual capital. You can significantly remove management layers and temporarily reduce costs, but all too soon, the layers creep back in and the short-term gains disappear. But if consumer tastes for your product are different around the world, you might find the room filled to capacity with nearly people from all over the world made me reflect on what I perceive to be a growing interest in, and momentum behind, the report. While it may be humane and socially desirable to say that people are different rather than unequal in their potential, nevertheless executive talent is in short supply.
